

Journal of Transatlantic Studies

Notes for Contributors

The Journal of Transatlantic Studies is a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary journal that publishes papers that focus on the transatlantic region. Disciplines and areas of study encompassed by the journal include Politics, History, Security Studies and International Relations, Economics, Literature and Culture, Planning and the Environment, Race and Migration. The Journal is supported by The Transatlantic Studies Association.

Articles submitted to the Journal of Transatlantic Studies should be original contributions and should not be derived from existing or planned publications. Articles should not be under consideration for any other publication at the same time. If another version of the article is under consideration by another publication, or has been, or will be published elsewhere, authors should clearly indicate this at the time of submission.

All submissions will normally be reviewed by two anonymous referees and a member of the editorial team. Decisions will normally be made about publication within 6 months of submission.

Submissions

The standard word length for articles is 6,000 – 10,000 words (including notes and references) but there will be no prejudice against longer articles of 10,000 words and above if quality justifies publication. The article should begin with an indented abstract of around 100 words, which should describe the main arguments and conclusions of the article. Authors should also include 5 keywords representing the major themes of the article, to be provided on a separate sheet of paper.

Please submit two title pages, one with and one without the author's details on it. Details of the author's institutional affiliation, full address and other contact information should be included on the cover sheet along with a note on the exact length of the article.

All submissions should be presented electronically as a Word Document email attachment addressed to the Editor.

- E-Mail: a.p.dobson@dundee.ac.uk
- Alternatively if the author cannot submit electronically please mail to: Prof. Alan Dobson, Journal of Transatlantic Studies, Director of the Institute for Transatlantic, European and American Studies, Department of Politics, University of Dundee, Perth Road, Dundee, DD1 4HN, Scotland, UK;

All Books for Review or Book Reviews should be clearly marked Book Review and either e-mailed or posted to: Mike Cullinane, School of History, University College Cork, Cork, Ireland. m.cullinane@ucc.ie

The editors invite proposals for special issues or special sections on a focused theme. All special issues or sections are refereed in two stages. Contributors interested in organizing a special issue or theme should contact the editors in the first instance.

Style and References

Quotations and notes should be double spaced, with the notes consecutively numbered and presented as endnotes. Italics rather than underlining should be used in the text and single quotation marks except where there is a quote within a quote.

References to published works should appear as follows:

Mark A. Pollack and Gregory C. Shaffer, Transatlantic Governance in the Global Economy (Lanham Maryland: Rowan and Littlefield, 2001), 88.

Richard Higgott, 'Contested Globalization: The Changing Context and Normative Challenges', Review of International Studies, 26, no. 1 (2000), 135.

Subsequent citations should use short titles.

Citations of archival sources should follow the appropriate conventions and must be consistent.

Proofs

Authors will receive proofs of their contributions for the correction of typographical errors only. It will be assumed that if the author does not return corrections within two weeks of receipt of proofs that the proofs have met with the author's satisfaction. Authors should ensure that they retain a copy of their work to check against proofs.

Free Article Access

Corresponding authors will receive free online access to their article through the Routledge website (www.informaworld.com) and a complimentary copy of the issue containing their article. Reprints of articles published in this journal can be purchased through Rightslink® when proofs are received. If you have any queries, please contact our reprints department at reprints@tandf.co.uk

Copyright

It is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or licence the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to Taylor & Francis. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate the article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors retain many rights under the Taylor & Francis rights policies, which can be found at www.informaworld.com/authors_journals_copyright_position. Authors are themselves responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyright material from other sources.

Manuscripts and correspondence should be sent to the Editor, Professor Alan Dobson, Director of the Institute of Transatlantic European and American Studies, Politics Department, University of Dundee, Perth Road, Dundee, DD1 4HN, Scotland, UK a.p.dobson@dundee.ac.uk .
